"During our time in Boise, we were fortunate to experience the authentic flavors, sights, and sounds of this vibrant community. We visited markets, restaurants, museums, and historic sites as we immersed ourselves in a wonderful culture that we'd known little about before our trip."

~Sue & Diana travelawaits.com

"From the immigrants that moved to the United States decades ago to the culture that still exists today, Boise is truly a unique place when it comes to the Basque culture."

BASQUE BLOCK
Boise, Idaho

MEET YOU AT THE BASQUE BLOCK!

A phrase commonly heard these days in Boise, Idaho and one that directs tourists and locals alike to this unique attraction in the Capitol City.

One of the first plotted areas of the city, Grove Street was home to early, prominent Boise families, but as time moved on and the streetcar system was developed, the family names of Moore, Cartier, and Redway were replaced by names like Letemendi, Yribar and Arregui.

Today those names are literally etched into the street, a permanent reminder of the many Basque immigrants in the area. Though not a boardinghouse or recent Basque immigrant in sight, one can still take part in the unique Basque & Basque-American culture in which Boise takes such pride.

Immerse all your senses in Basque culture by visiting any of the Basque businesses on and off the Block, joining in a festival, visiting the Museum, restaurants and maybe even catching a music or dance performance. Truly an experience unlike any other.
